

1 ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

 A semiconductor device has a resin package layer on a principal surface of a semiconductor chip,
on which a number of bump electrodes are formed,
5 wherein the semiconductor device has a chamfer surface or a stepped surface on a top edge part such that the external shock or stress applied to such an edge part is dissipated by the chamfer surface of the stepped surface.

10

15

20

25

30

35